Last Chance to Catch...

Nat Finkelstein: From One Extreme to the Other Ends 14th February 2010

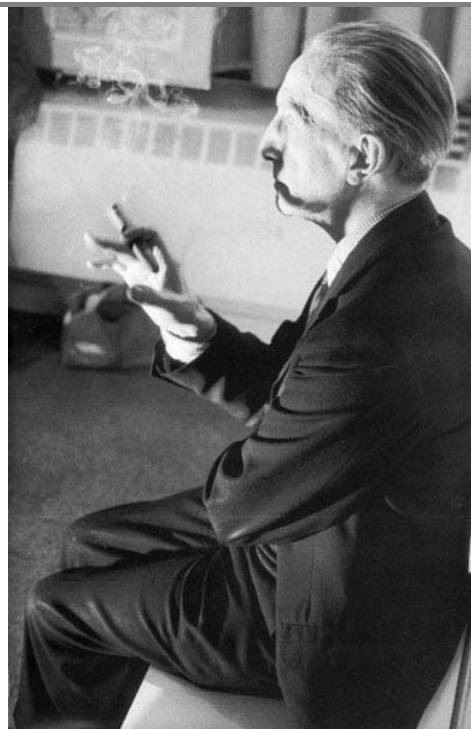

"When all is said and done, when everything is gone, the photograph is what's going to remain. The photographer is the producer of history."

– Nat Finkelstein, 1933 - 2009

A celebration of the life and work of Nat Finkelstein – photojournalist, political activist, fugitive and veteran of the 1960s New York scene, Nat Finkelstein was one of the most respected photojournalists of modern times. Renowned for his iconic and intimate documentation of Andy Warhol's infamous Factory, and later for his political activism including an allegiance with The Black Panthers that forced him to live abroad for 15 years, Finkelstein remained at the heart of the cultural zeitgeist up until his death aged 76, 2nd October 2009.

"A remarkable show in a remarkable venue" – Jeffrey Andreoni, Art Slant

"Warhol presenting Bob Dylan with a life-sized silk screen portrait of Elvis: three fame junkies in one frame", Joanna Pitman, The Times

Gavin Bond: Music

23rd February – 21st March 2010

© Gavin Bond, Bono

© Gavin Bond, Kings of Leon

Gavin Bond is one of the UK's most successful contemporary photographers having shot highly intimate and exciting images of many of the last decade's most celebrated icons. From phenomenal front covers for leading music magazine Q and fashion magazine GQ, through arresting imagery for hit HBO dramas, to behind-the-scenes reportage of catwalk shows and concerts around the globe, Bond's work has captured the hip zeitgeist of the Noughties.

Launching during London Fashion Week, this new exhibition of music photography brings never before seen images to the UK, allowing music fans to get up close and personal with contemporary rock greats. Bond's distinctive style gets beneath the skin of his subjects to reveal personalities, emotions and moments usually unseen in public. From stunning personal portraits of legends such as Grace Jones, Ozzy Osbourne and Steven Tyler to innovative sequences of bands such as The Killers, Kings of Leon and U2, Bond's images, shot from dressing room to stage, demonstrate the elaborate talent that has propelled him to the top of the industry.

Coming Up

Storm Thorgerson

2nd April – 2nd May 2010

© Storm Thorgerson, Back Catalogue

© Storm Thorgerson

© Storm Thorgerson, Muse: Absolution

A career-spanning retrospective of arguably the most influential and prolific designer of rock music imagery, photography & iconography. From Pink Floyd to Led Zeppelin to the Cranberries, taking in everything from Genesis to AC/DC in between. As well as a look back on Storm's unmistakable contributions to both visual art and music in the last few decades, the exhibition will feature new politically motivated, ambitious site specific works addressing issues of the modern day.

"I like photography because it is a reality medium, unlike drawing which is unreal. I like to mess with reality...to bend reality. Some of my works beg the question of is it real or not?"

- Storm Thorgerson
